ONE WAY FOR EDUCATION

WANTED-one ASSISTANT FOOD SERVICE DIRECTOR, preferably with experience in helping write the book "Boil, Mash, Fry-101 Ways to Fix a Potato." Should like early hours and breakfast food.

Mrs. Briggs hard at work at the grill. Is it fried potatoes for lunch again?

WANTED-one TREASURER with a love for doing student accounts. Should be able to tell the difference between a real excuse and a cop-out—"The computer ate my Accounting homework!!" His motto should be SAVE, SAVE, SAVE!!

John Briggs-Treasurer, Judy-Cafe Supervisor

WANTED-one KEYBOARD TEACHER and church organist. Should know the difference between an organ and a piano. Must always B natural, sometimes B sharp, and NEVER B flat. Norwegians preferred.

Synnøve Anderson, Yvonne

WANTED-one GIRLS' DEAN with the patience to "mother" 90 girls, and to settle domestic disputes. Should have an aversion to dust and an allergy to graffiti. Shouldn't mind late nights and early mornings, and must have an inherent love for midnight fire drills.

Byrna Botimer

WANTED-one "Liberal Californian" AYA DIRECTOR with a talent for "clowning around", a burden for street ministries, and a drive for what AYA stands for—Adventist Youth in ACTION!!

Mark Bohman

WANTED-one moustached COLUMBIA BROOM COMPANY MANAGER—a flair for broom straw is a must. Should know which end of a broom is best for sweeping. Wife and four kids optional.

John Christensen, Kris, Jason, B.J., Angela, David

WANTED-one PRINCIPAL who doesn't mind having a loaf in the cafe named after him. Should come with a history in construction and a bottle of Pepto to counteract each other in regards to one certain gymnasium. Talent in running a school is a NECESSITY.

Herb Douglass, Mavis, Candi, Kelli

WANTED-one GROUNDS SUPERVISOR who doesn't mind mowing lawns in the heat of the summer.

Kevin Evans

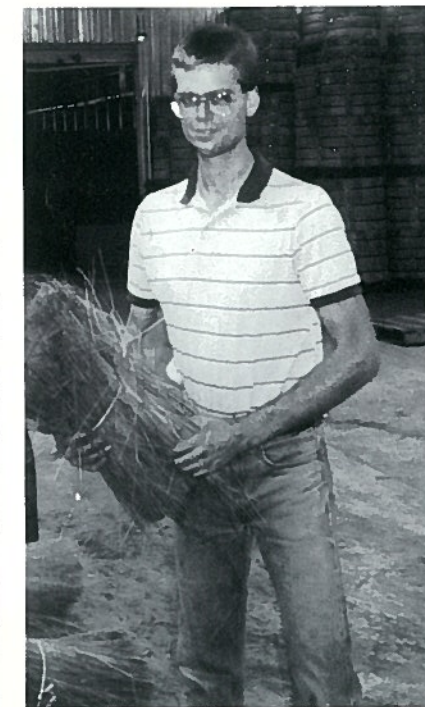

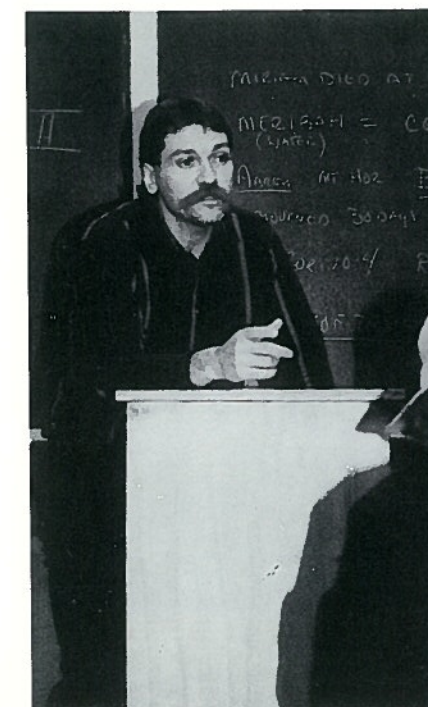

WANTED-one "hayseed" GIRLS' ASSISTANT DEAN from Nebraska. Should be small in stature (so she can commune with her head R.A.'s) but should be big on friendliness. An ability to tactfully throw guys out of the dorm is a necessity.

Debbie Forshee

WANTED-one JUNIOR BIBLE TEACHER interesting enough to name his theories after himself. A knowledge and a taste for Revelation are definite plusses. Should be willing to put up with questions ranging from the intellectual to the idiotic, and have either a slight hearing disability, or else extreme patience to put up with rowdy Juniors.

Peter Hardy, Liz, Malcom, Katy, Sidney

WANTED-one BROOM SHOP SUPERVISOR

Ron Hetterly

WANTED-one STUDENT RECRUITER and P.E. TEACHER with enough school spirit to rouse the whole school. Should come complete with U.C.A. jacket and a good supply of Lion's Pride pins.

Paul Jenks, Kelly, Christina, Joseph

WANTED-one MATHEMATICS TEACHER who really does comprehend what X actually is. Should be able to tell the difference between a triangle and a circle. Must be able to think algebraically.

Kent Kast, Nancy, Angela, Christina

WANTED-one INDUSTRIAL ARTS TEACHER who knows which side of a saw not to rub your fingers against. Should come with attached wrenches and hammers. The ability to re-key any door is a must.

Ed Klein, Beverly

WANTED-one PLANT MANAGER who has nothing at all to do with plants and actually takes care of the buildings. A quiet personality and an even temper are a must, in case of being called to fix something at a ridiculous hour when that thing could wait until later.

Dennis Lake, Jenni, Dave

WANTED-one BUSINESS EDUCATION teacher with a high pain threshold. Ought to come equipped with ear plugs and aspirin. The ability to function normally while hearing strange clattering noises is a definite plus.

WANTED-one BAND DIRECTOR with a high pain threshold. No earplugs allowed-precise listening skills are a must. Experience with baton waving recommended. Should at least be able to tell a flute from a french horn.

Jerry Lange, Harriet, Taletha, Jared

WANTED-one SCIENCE TEACHER with a gift for the dramatic. Jumping onto desks to make an important point is allowed. Frequent changes in facial hair styles are suggested—especially over Outdoor Ed. trips.

Eric Magi, Rena, Tara, Ross

WANTED-one artistic ASSISTANT BOYS' DEAN with a love for animals (or boys—what's the difference?). Should be willing to teach an art class on the side.

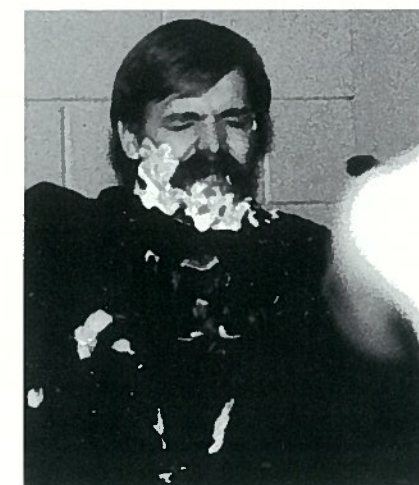

WANTED-one "horsey" broom shop secretary with a love for animals (or husband—what's the difference?!)

Mike Martling, Nancy

WANTED-one PASTOR and SENIOR BIBLE TEACHER. Should enjoy sharing his faith and like career, marriage, and family planning. A Bible is indispensable.

Dan Meidinger, Carol, Katie, Karl, Kurt

WANTED-one LIBRARIAN and COMPUTER LITERACY TEACHER. Bushy moustaches preferred. Danes preferred.

WANTED-one ENGLISH TEACHER prepared for a thankless job. Slave driving comes now, the thanks WILL come later.

Steffen Moller, Virlys, Ted, Lisa

WANTED-one BROOM SHOP FOREMAN who can fix almost anything. Must be willing to listen to students' problems and know the students by first name.

Jim Moyer, Bonnie, Joe

WANTED-one PRINCIPAL'S SECRETARY talented in answering phones and supplying the principal with sharpened pencils and pens that work. Should be cheerful at most times. "Human"ness allowed.

Carolyn Neil

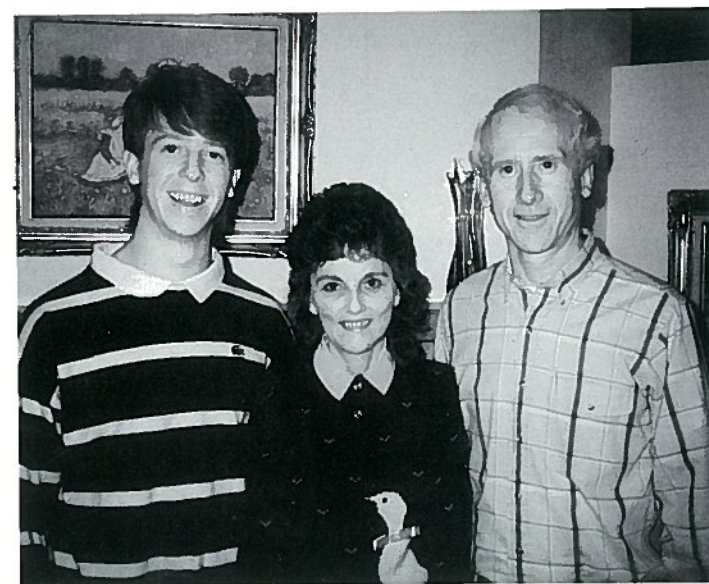

WANTED-one SPANISH TEACHER with the ability to drill a foreign language into student's heads.

Maria Northcutt, Rebecca

WANTED-one dedicated REGISTRAR with an accent who means it when she calls students "love".

Genia Pascoe, Bryce, Todd

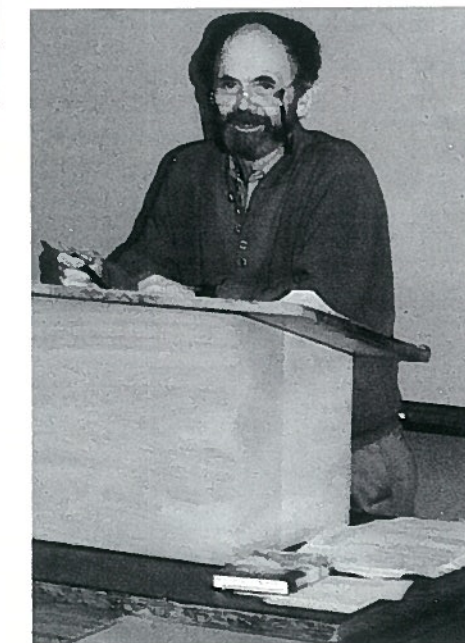

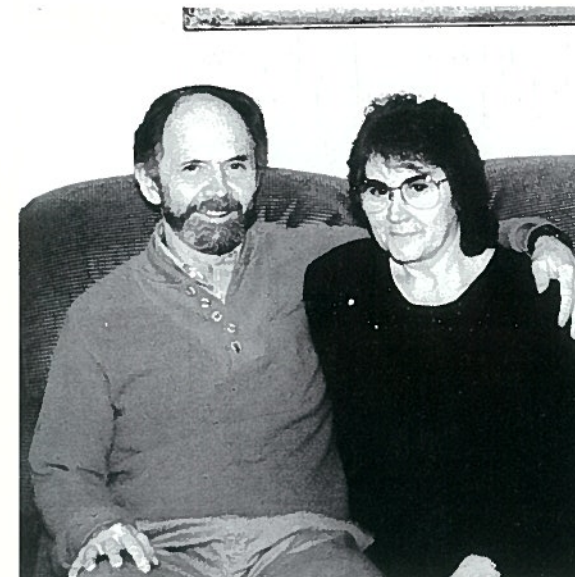

WANTED-one ELEMENTARY SCHOOL TEACHER who enjoys sports. Being good with kids is a must.

WANTED-one SCHOOL NURSE who doesn't mind getting up early in the mornings to take people's temperature.

Tracy Ortega, Cindy, Christine, Megan

WANTED-one HISTORY TEACHER with a history. Should have a desire for Europe trips and fire for Marathas Mexico trips.

Olin Peach, Viola

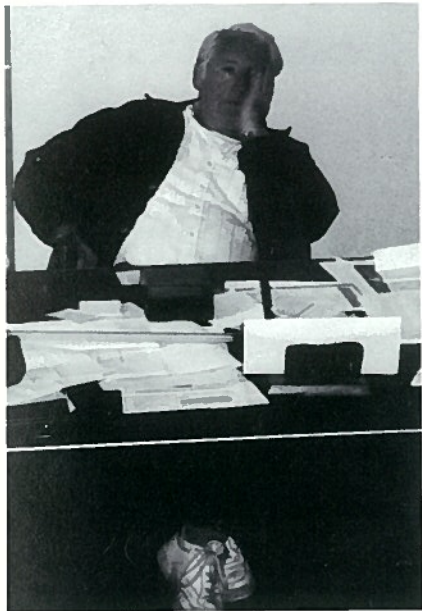

WANTED-one FOOD SERVICES DIRECTOR with a talent for making cafe food as close to home as possible.

WANTED-one BOYS' DEAN to keep order in the Boys' Dorm without the use of a .44 magnum. A dry sense of humor is desirable.

Chuck Stevens, Lois

WANTED-one CHORAL DIRECTOR with the talent to turn 50-odd voices into something worth listening to. A love for before-rehearsal aerobics is desirable.

Carmen Swigart

WANTED-one BUSINESS MANAGER and VICE PRINCIPAL who loves obliterating deficits. Should write checks that don't bounce—whether or not there is money in the bank to cover them.

Don Perkins, Sue, Esther

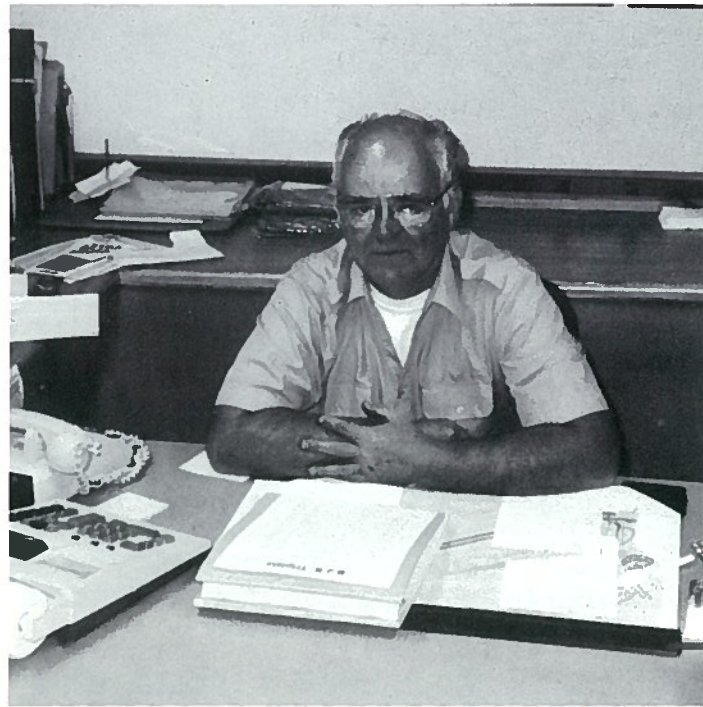

WANTED-one ASSISTANT FOOD SERVICES SUPERVISOR who enjoys working in the cafeteria.

Lonnie Slawson

WANTED-one BJK TRIPLETTS OWNER.

Jim Triplett

WANTED-one Canadian ENGLISH TEACHER. Must articulate words. A flair for drama is recommended and talent in helping run a newspaper is a must.

Cindy Voortman

WANTED-one ASSISTANT MAINTENANCE WORKER who enjoys life. Must be able to make and design picture frames.

Don Wesslen, Evelyn

WANTED-one petite OFFICE WORKER for BJK Felts.
Jackie Wren

WANTED-one cheerful blond ASSISTANT FOOD SERVICES SUPERVISOR.

WANTED-one GYMNASTICS INSTRUCTOR and SCHOOL DRIVER. A gymnasts security depends upon your balance. While driving a school vehicle, must strictly follow the speed limit (within 20 or 30 mph). Grinding gears is allowed.

We, the Class of 90, were a very diversified class. But as we suffered through Senior English together, shared problems with each other, and slept through Senior Social Studies together, we learned that differences didn't matter as much because we all learned to love each other.

SENIOR SURVIVAL

You've never really met someone until you spend four days camping with them in Montana! In that case, the Seniors all ought to know each other REALLY well!!

When they arrived at the camping spot, every Senior was faced with their first challenge. How do you turn two pieces of black plastic, some twine, and tent pegs into a sleep-in-able tent? Most students mastered the sleep-in-able part, but a tent that would keep dry was another story!!

One last glance at school Teresa Nelson, Kelli Scheidman

"You mean to tell me there are no SHOWERS there?!!!" Bart McAlister, Kerby Carambot

Are the hills alive with the sound of music, Angie? Angie Bricker

ONE WAY to UNITY

The classes taught the Seniors many valuable things: 1 almost anything can be made into tea, 2 there's more than one way up the mountain, 3 there are some people you'd want with you in a life or death situation, and there are some you wouldn't, and 4 there's a lot coming in the future before Jesus comes that we need to know about NOW!!!

The trust fall is what you might call a commitment-you're committing your very valuable life into someone else's hands.

"Do I trust them, or don't I?" Mindee Yarlott and some of the MEN from the Senior Class. And THEN there's Mr. Jenks!!

"It is a greater thing I do ..." Loren Hanson and the members of the Senior Class

Precarious Position!! Desiree Marquis, and others

Seeing students reveling in charcoal spattered, burnt-on-one-side-raw-on-the-other pancakes was amazing. Kids consumed with gusto things they would have rebelled against having in the Cafe: Mountain Dew or Rootbeer flavored water with specks of ash in it, crunchy potatoes in the stew, and scorched toast. In any case, Senior Survival was probably the "learningest" experience the Seniors will have all year!!

CULTURE SHOCK HERE WE COME!!

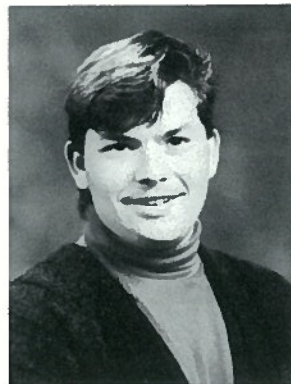

Becoming a Junior after being a Sophomore was ONE WAY of experiencing culture shock. The stack of books we now carried around every day threatened to stretch our arms to knee length. Yes, last year we THOUGHT we had it hard. We grimaced and groaned at Mr. Peach's Northwest History tests, but now that we think back, we had actually watched movies more than anything else back then!!! THIS year U.S. History battered our brains and bruised our egos--we never felt so unintelligent in our lives!!!

Though we didn't always agree with the information, Hardiology (in layman's terms--Mr. Peter Hardy's Bible Class) was one class we won't easily forget. Stop and think--how much patience did Mr. Hardy and our other teachers actually have--how did they EVER manage to convey the information they needed to cover in the class while still putting up with our questions?

Indeed, classes made being a Junior a challenge, but the step up in status was refreshing. We now had the upper classman privilege of escorting (no touching, please). The Freshmen and Sophomores finally looked up to us, and we got the respect we had long deserved.

ONE WAY TO MATURITY

Observing the Freshmen this year, the Sophomores' most common questions were "Was I actually that LITTLE last year? Did I act that hyperactive? Was I REALLY that rambunctious?"

The differences between the Freshmen and we Sophomore class members are large. If we were one of the people here for their second year, we no longer felt it necessary to "leave our mark". Unfortunately, quite often the marks we left LAST year were ones we had to fight off THIS year. Some of us felt slightly like we were "in limbo" this year. No, we weren't the school babies anymore, but we weren't upperclassmen yet. Because of this, some Sophomore stayed in the background, developed better study habits, and waited to blossom into "Upper-classmanhood".

Now we Sophomores are familiar with the ropes we know where the classes are, know who the teachers are have already formed friendships, and feel more comfortable with who we are as people. And as life goes on, we're learning more and more. What are we going to do when we learn everything?!!

Indeed, becoming a Sophomore is one way to mature.

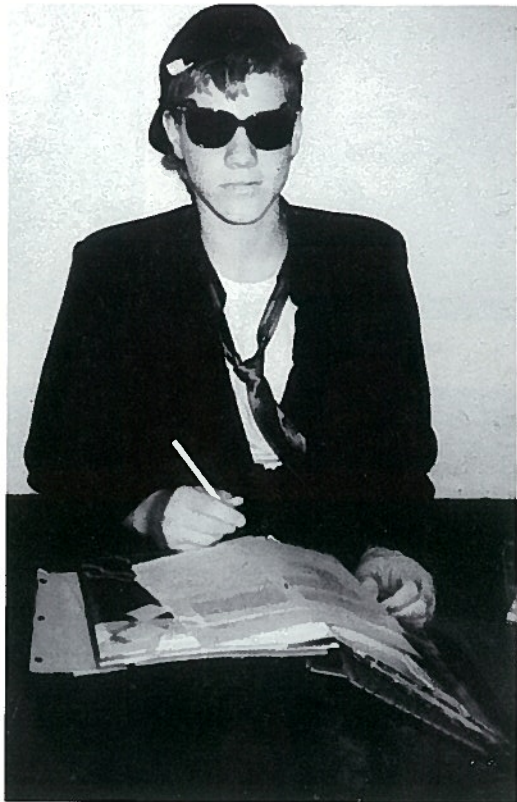

"Of COURSE we love each other!!" Teresa Nelson and Janet Schoepflin release some tension during Geometry Class.

"If you take this picture, there's going to be one less Annual photographer in the world!" Summer Smith

CLASS OFFICERS

ONE WAY TO INDEPENDENCE

We can say with all honesty that we Freshmen made a bigger jump in coming to U.C.A. than any other class. Not only were we new to U.C.A., we were new to academy life, new to harder classes, new to the campus setup, and we knew few, if any, people.

Many of us thrived on the newfound responsibility, and though we LOVE our parents, we have to admit being away from home was a good experience because it helped us grow more independent. Aside from the responsibility, we also had new freedoms--we were now in charge of making our own decisions when it came to friends, WE had to do the motivating when it came to homework, and we decided which way our school career was heading.

As Freshmen, one of our biggest challenges was finding our niche. We wanted to be known and noticed, so sometimes we tended to act silly and hyperactive. The Freshman life was carefree--we didn't have to buckle down and seriously STUDY too much this year. Being a Freshman gave us an excuse for being crazy and slightly idiotic sometimes, and yet permitted us to act mature if we wanted to. Yes, our Freshman year was a good one, but we're ready to move on!!

During the year, there are several opportunities for tours and special events involving the choral department. One of these events is Choir Clinic, held at Walla Walla College, where the students are able to sing in a choir with numerous other schools from our division.

Cindy Olson, Diana Gray, Hannah Peters, Doug Hartzell, Edee Burns, Hans Haeger, and Scott Buckmiller mingle between rehearsals during Choir Clinic.

CHORALIERS Members-Faith Blood, Gabe Hyman, Heidi Interling, Doug Hartzell, Hannah Peters, Steve Mantle, Kristi Fritz, Joe Moyer, Diana Gray, Hans Haeger, Karrie Gooding, Mike Scott-Chaplain, Philip Thomas, Accompanist-Rob Holm, Scott Buckmiller-President, Sophia Demos, Becky Guth-Secretary/Treasurer, Edee Burns, Jill Urie-Vice President, Cindy Olson.

Miss Swigart directs the Choraliers as they sing for special music in Church. The Choral department helps provide music for Sabbath programs often during the year.

Band, under Jerry Lange performs for their Winter Band Concert at Spokane Junior Academy.

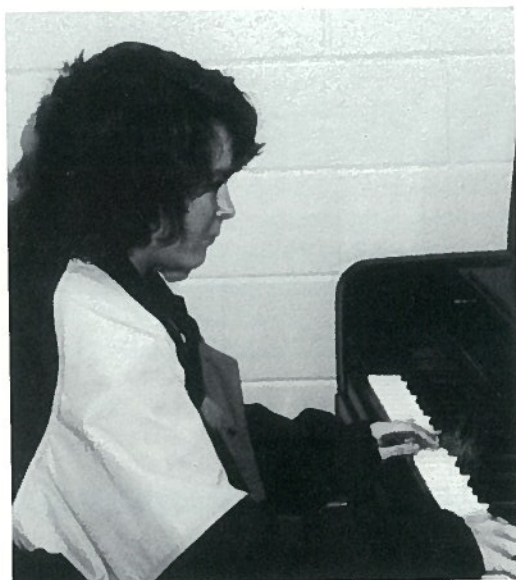

Becky Guth, Sophia Demos, and Karrie Gooding wait for practice to begin in the Choir Loft of Walla Walla College's church during Choir Clinic.

Many students take voice lessons from Miss Carmen Swigart to improve their voices so they have the opportunity to participate in activities such as this.

Students can take instrumental lessons from Mr. Jerry Lange if they want to enhance their skills on a more personal level than band. Richard Griswold practices playing his tuba.

Mrs. Synn+dfve Anderson teaches piano lessons to students who want to improve their talent. Karrie Gooding works on enriching her skills.

This year we had the great opportunity of having two college students take a year out of their studies to help us here at school. Debbie Forshee was the girl's assistant dean, and Mark Bohman was the A.Y.A. director.

Due to a very sad situation, Mark had to leave U.C.A. half way through the year. Multiple Sclerosis is a disease that strikes quickly and is no respecter of persons. Many students had difficulty understanding why something like this could happen to someone as good a Christian as Mark. Through everything, Mark has had a very bright attitude. If God can use this for the best, Mark is willing to accept it. THAT is true Christianity!!

CHRISTIAN DRAMA GROUP

David Lake and Mike Evans lift lithe and limber DeAnna Sandquist as she does a back bend.

Yes, Wild and Crazy gymnasts need time to rest, too. John Hughes and Joel Bordeaux spend a dazed moment on the side lines.

STUDENT LABOR

A lot of us students owe the fact we are here to student labor (and our own blood, sweat, and tears, of course!) Take away the student labor, and just imagine how many more faculty members there would have to be to work in the Cafeteria, all the offices, in the dorm, at the desk. That's right!! What WOULD they do without us?

"What made you think I don't like washing dishes?" Jonathan Hilde works in the Cafeteria. Shelly Lunt, Mr. Hardy's reader, obviously enjoys her job.

"Don't you DARE spill that food on my clean floor!" yells Bart McAlister as he mops the cafeteria.

Deanie Bebee works the afternoon shift in the Registrar's office. "UCA-Herb Douglass's office, may I help you?" Lory Giddings works for Mrs. Neil, the principal's secretary.

ONE WAY to stay in School

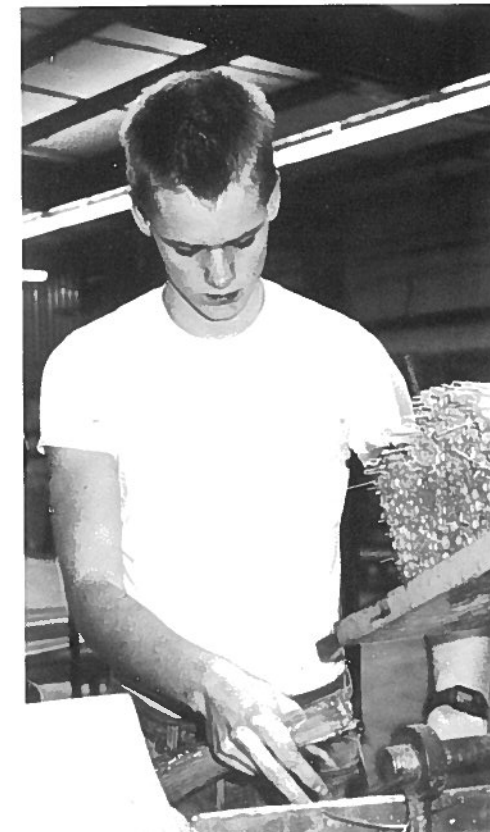

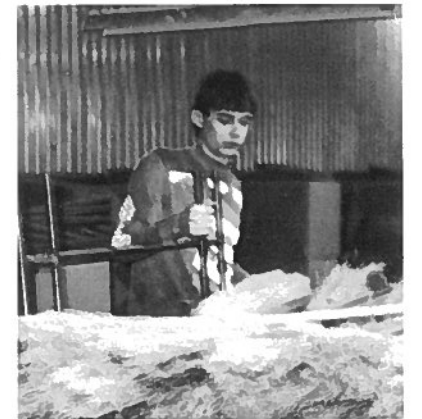

"This wouldn't be so distasteful if it didn't smell!" Angie Bricker empties the trash.

Dan Stolp works hard winding mops during the A.M. shift in the Mop Shop.

Another CBC worker, Erik Christensen stands beside a cart of stitched brooms.

Carefully, Mike Evans winds brooms at Columbia Broom Company.

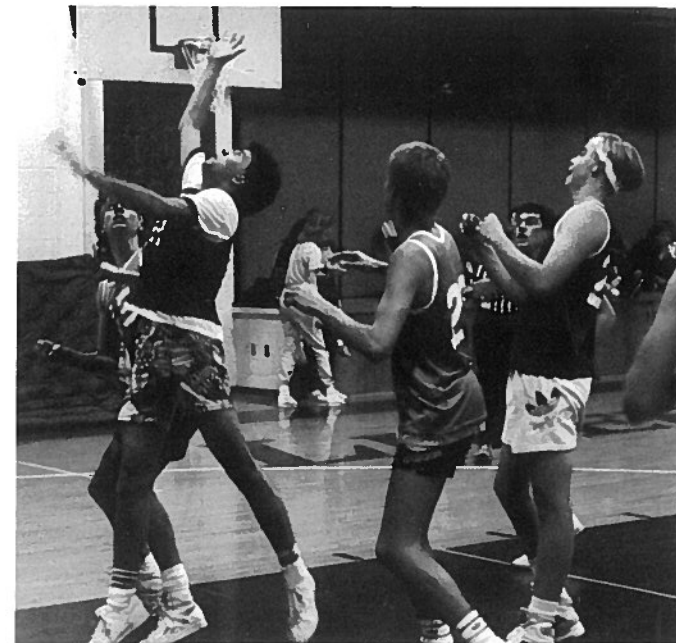

Mike Schultz and Jennifer Davison share a laugh as they work on the stitchers at the Broomshop.

BASKETBALL

It was a season of mad dashes toward the other end of the court, shoes squeaking shrilly on the shiny wood floor, rim shots, square hits, near misses, scrambling for the ball . . . All in all, there was a lot of action and everyone had fun.

Basketball was another sport greatly affected by our lack of a gymnasium. Our games revolved around Liberty High School's schedule, since they showed a major move in mending the U.C.A.-Liberty relations by "lending" us their gym for play period.

Another group of people that deserve a lot of credit were the captains. Co-captains for A league were Dan Evans and Eric Magi; Jeff Wagner and Paul Jenks; Max Leidig and Loren Hanson; Jeremy Nelson and Mike Arlt. Guy's B-league captains were Yobi Kasper, and Dan Stolp. The Girl's co-captains were Desiree Marquis and Tera Harden; Tina Newman and Connie Northrup. But the captains wouldn't have won or LOST a single game without the awesome players. Every single one deserves a lot of credit.

Referee Doug Kirk makes a very enthusiastic call.

INTRAMURALS

Gabe Hyman tries to block as David Dunston shoots.

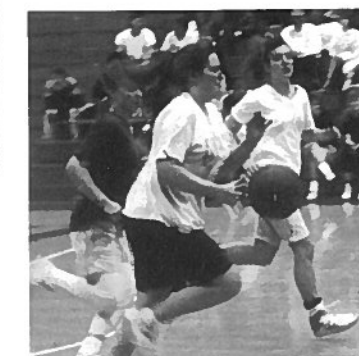

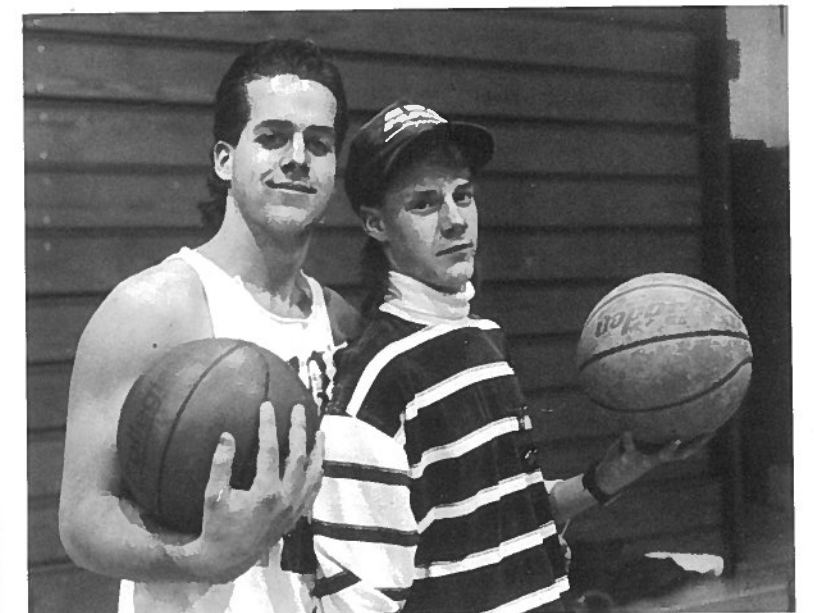

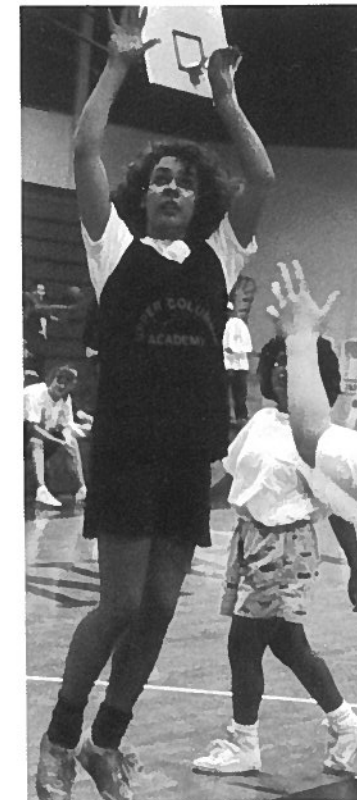

Julie Mathison dribbles the ball as Bobby Jo Haste heads towards the key.

"I hope I can, I hope I can, I hope I can!!" Greg Kettner attempts a freethrow.

Amy Rasmussen leaps into the air in her attempt to make a basket.

Masculine Models, Jon Tall and Bart McAlister, Pose with spherical sports equipment for this parsimonious portrait.

RECREATIONAL SKIING

Mount Spokane, Schweitzer, White Water. Wherever the snow was best, you'd find the Rec. skiers. They scarcely ever lived up to the name wREcK skiers, except for Yobi Kasper, who nearly committed a successful Hari Kiri by trying to impale himself on his ski pole. But despite a few accidents and Mother Nature's character quirks, the Rec. Skiers still managed to enjoy the snow.

Ron Rasmussen, an avid mono-skier, in the middle of a kick turn.

"LOOK OUT BELOW!!" Brian Irvine proficiently executes a spread eagle.

"Of COURSE I'm having fun," Michelle Stout stops at the side of a slope to rest.

RECKLESS SKIER ALERT! Doug Hartzell goes over a ski jump.

CAUGHT WITH YOUR PANTS DOWN? Chris Jones cools off in the lodge between runs.

LESSON SKIING

Some were learning to Snowplow while others were perfecting their turns, but all Lesson Skiers were at 49/dg North with one purpose in mind—to improve their skiing skills.

This years Lesson Skiers were Rose Stegnjaic, Teresa Nelson, Kristen Finlayson, Stephanie Adsit, Eric Wren, Warren Magnuson, Erik Mundall, Eddie Mundall, Richard Griswold, and Rolly Hedrick. Not pictured, Jason Mixey, Dwight Morgan.

Warren Magnuson does a Daffy.

Richard Griswold, Eddie Mundall, and Erik Mundall rest on the edge of the slope.

A little more learning to do? Dwight Morgan attempts a spread eagle right before he biffs it.

Skiers are instructed in the finer points of skiing.

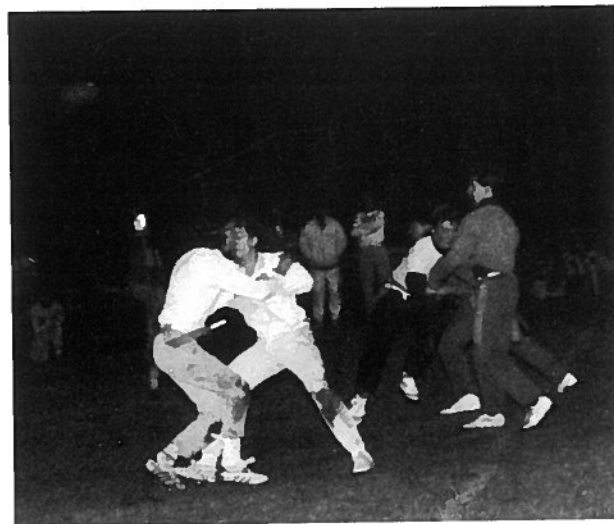

FOOTBALL INTRAMURALS

It was a great season, filled with innumerable impressive kickoffs, passes, touchdowns, interceptions, and unexpected comebacks. Speaking of the unexpected, due to the delay in the building of the gymnasium, the football season went on much longer than anticipated, but the team members consistently showed up on the field, ready to conquer or be conquered DESPITE the bone-chilling cold weather.

In an A-League scrimmage, Mark Hansen blocks for Rob Holm. (Pete Wenzel, Mark Hansen, Doug Kirk, Rob Holm.)

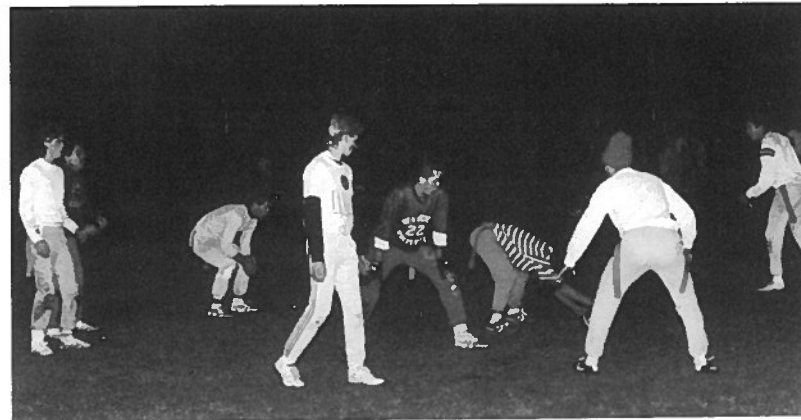

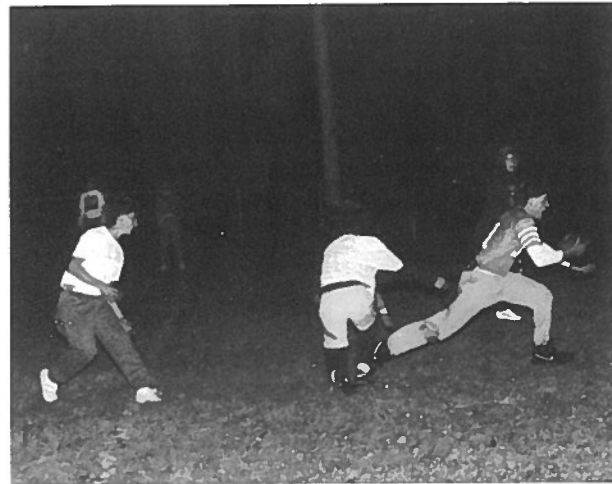

"Hut one, hut two, HIKE!!!"

THE FANTASTIC FEARLESS FOOTBALL FANS

This year's Football fans were a bunch of hardy souls nearly as staunch and steadfast as the players themselves. Braving sub-zero temperatures, suffering severe cases of frostbite-they faithfully showed up to cheer their favorite team on.

Editor's note-not all of that is truth!!

First Semester

Taletha Lange-President; Pennie Johnson-Secretary; Kristen Finlayson-Chorister; Jon Tall-Sgt. at Arms; Yvonne Anderson-Pianist; Diana Gray-Vice President; Bert Wredberg-Chaplain; Warren Magnuson-Treasurer

ASB's first semester officers helped plan activities for registration day, orchestrated Spirit Week with a 50's party to start it off, clash day, hat day, and leadership day, and planned the Fall Picnic.

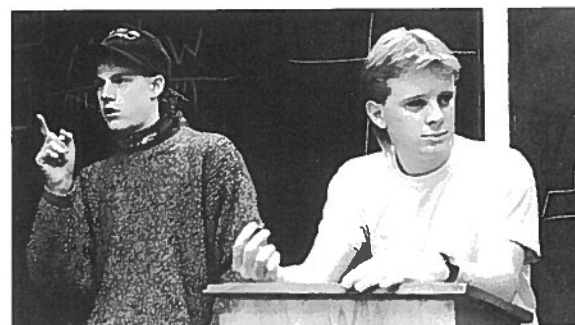

Brian Reed, David Hoag, and Geoff Bowlsby are on the receiving end of a Pudding eating contest.

Bart Mc Alister and Doug Kirk teach Senior Bible on Leadership Day.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

One of first Semester ASB's biggest projects was the Headstart Christmas Party. Underprivileged children were bussed in from Spokane, we served them a meal in a Christmassy decorated Cafe, had a movie as entertainment, and Santa Claus (alias Mr. Briggs) visited and handed out the presents the "adoptive parents" had bought for their "children". We were shown the true spirit of giving as we watched the absolute joy of those children. The basic reason we even did this is demonstrated by a situation with Brian Waggoner and Marni Brittain's child. When the little boy went through the supper line, he stared at the food with wide eyed wonder. He gasped, "You mean you can eat ALL YOU WANT?" Now THAT'S what Christmas is all about!!

Brian Waggoner seems to be enjoying the party even more than his little boy!! Trista Robison and R.C. Freely's little girl busies herself opening her present. Diana Gray and Rob Holm's child pulls her new teddy bear out of the box. "C'mon, Geoff, let me try!!" Geoff Bowlsby and child try out a remote controlled car. "HO HO HO!" Jolly Old Saint Nicholas hands out the gifts.

WINTER CAMPUS DAY

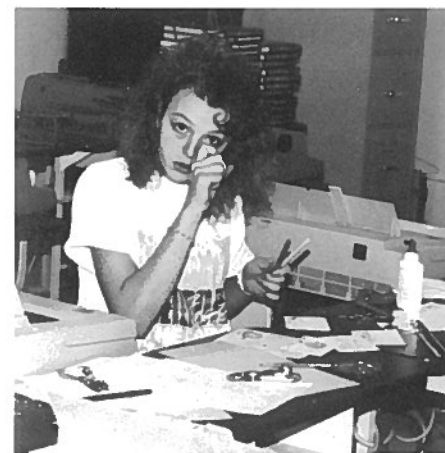

Winter Campus Day was the Second Semester A.S.B. officers' first chance to plan any activities. What a great activity to start with. After all, when else do you get the opportunity to go to FUN classes that require little or no brain power (thus allowing your school-work-clogged mind to relax), aren't graded (how do you grade a gingerbread house or a rag basket or hackysacking?) and yet you still get credit for a day of school.

While many students stayed at school to participate in "classes," many also headed out to go skiing at Schweitzer. There may have been no snow down here but there was a LITTLE up at Schweitzer, and since it was feared that Winter would never turn her chilly countenance toward us, Rec Skiing decided to take advantage of an available day.

Jenny Woods relaxes and cuddles Miss Voortman's dog T.J. while attending Miss Voortman's class—Contemporary Christian Music Review. And what does that mean in layman's terms? Basically that they spent the class period listening to music!!

"I'm so enterprising I amaze even myself!!" Ryan Galloway tests his ingenuity in Designer Stationery Class.

"Hmmm. I wonder if I could sell this to Hallmark!" Renee Hanson gets artistic in the class Mrs. Lange taught, Designer Stationery.

David Delafield expectantly waits for the hackysack to come in his direction while participating in the Hackysacking class taught by Mr. Magi.

GIRL'S CLUB OFFICERS

CHRISTMAS BANQUET

December 10, 1989

One way Girl's Club entertained us this year was when they planned a Christmas Banquet. The cafeteria was decorated with evergreen trees covered with snow to go with the theme, An evening in December.

The Starlighters serenade the banquet with Hannah Cutting, Jennifer Chittenden, Janet Schoepflin, and Diana Gray.

We are having fun! -Jill Urie and Greg Kettner
Kimb Cacka enjoys her better-than-usual cafeteria supper.
Yolanda Lopez and Jeremy Holm smile as they enter a winter wonderland.

Yes, Yobi, that is a fork. -Yobi Kasper and Yvonne Anderson

VALENTINES BANQUET

Valentines Banquet. The very words may inspire sweaty palms in guys and rapid heartbeats in girls. AH!! One chance during the year when you can let someone know you are thinking about them. On the night of the banquet, the girls dorm lobby is flooded with a gaggle of guys waiting for their lovely dates to appear. There is the usual difficulty with the corsages, as you close your eyes and plunge with that instrument of torture-the corsage pin, hoping against hope that you won't kill your date. After all, that would destroy your whole evening!!

The cafe IS still the cafe, but there's something magic about a banquet, so you settle down for the meal and enjoy yourself.

The Impressions-Scott Buckmiller, Greg Kettner, David Dunston, Joe Moyer, and Mike Scott croon mellow tunes in the classic song "Happy Together."

Tiffany Stout and Kerwin Carambot smile smugly. This is ONE WAY to have a chance to "date".

Lisa Dickerson reaches for the interesting concoction they came up with for drinks for the banquet.

"Don't look embarrassed, Shaun, or you'll show your dimples!" Shaun Lunt and Camille Barrow enjoy themselves.

A.Y.A.

Adventist Youth in Action . . . One way to really get involved in life at U.C.A. is to participate in A.Y.A. activities. Of the many things we did, the most popular ones were: going to Shriner's dressed as clowns and feeding the homeless on the streets of Spokane.

"Does someone want this soup?" asks Jennifer Chittenden after she dishes out a bowl for a street person.

Mark Bohman, our fearless leader, stops the group of clowns for a word of prayer.

Transforming herself into a clown, Becky Guth tries on a hat for size. One Sabbath, the whole group of clowns stopped at Riverfront Park. There they passed out balloons and caused many smiles. (Laura Ginter, Ted Moller, Beth Willingham, David Lake)

"Sandwiches, anyone?" Greg Kettner and Rolly Hedrick busily hand out food for the homeless.

WEEKEND RELIGIOUS SERVICES

You never know how much Sabbaths mean until you go away to Academy!! Saturdays at U.C.A. are the most refreshing times of the week. How wonderful!! A time when you are SUPPOSED to leave the stresses of studies and jobs aside. Special Friday night vespers programs, Sabbath School, Church, and Sundown Meditations all help to remind us that God does care about us!!

Joe Moyer, Heidi Dietrich, Rose Stegnjaic, Julie Mathison, and Mike Evans head to church.

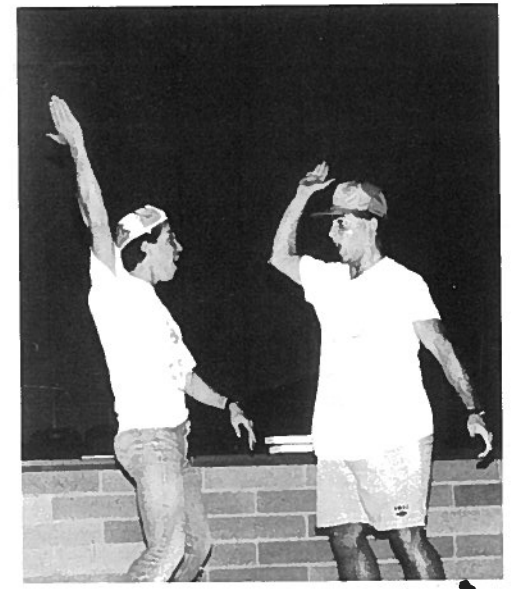

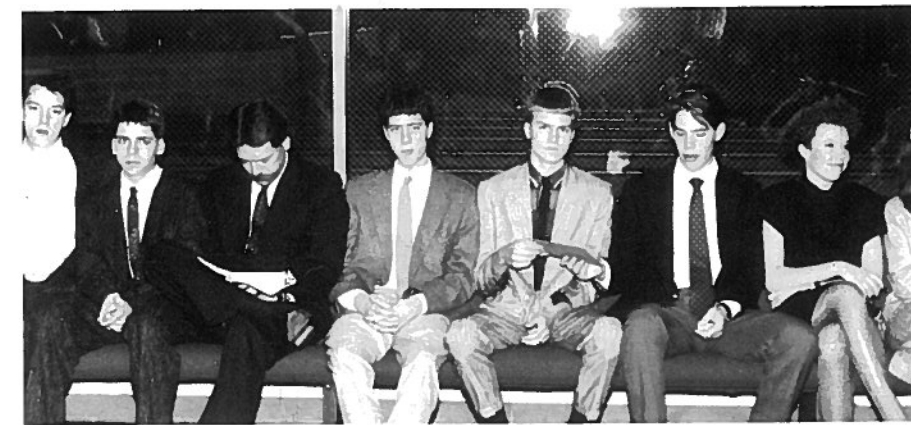

Cindy Donaldson has song service for Sabbath School.

Ted Moller, Eric Wren, Mike Schultz, Julie Stolp and Justin Schultz listen intently.

Choraliers, led by Miss Swigart, sings for Special Music.

Mr. Hardy and Mr. Magi's Sabbath School Class.

A group from Mivoden has a special Vespers involving a series of skits.

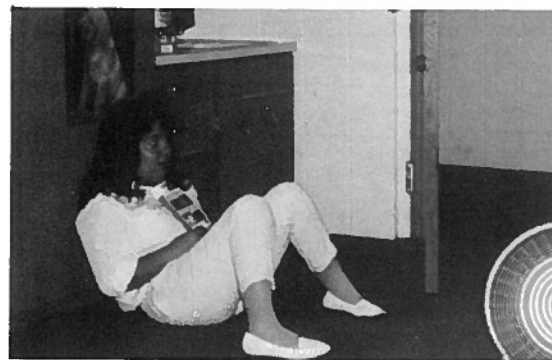

GIRLS' DORM LIFE

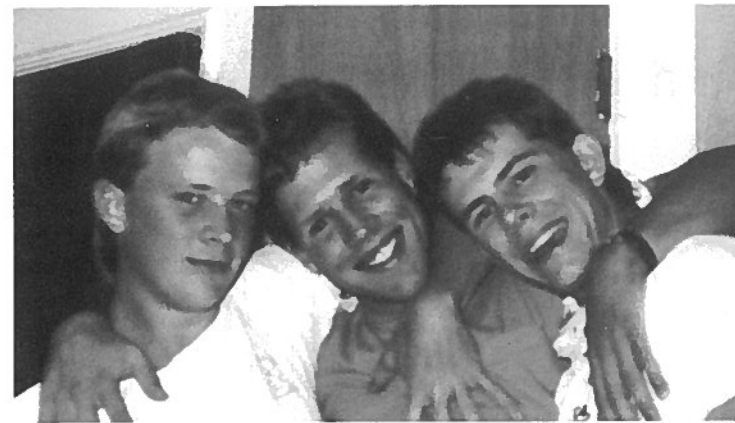

Imagine, if you can, living in a three story house with eighty-some female occupants. Imagine the late nights, early mornings, shower lines, arguments, the blow-ups, the emotional instability, hyperactivity and hilarity.

Stick into that picture two tireless deans, their sidekicks, (two tiny head Resident Assistants) and five indispensable regular R.A.'s. All put together, you'd still only have a partial picture. What about the most important part? The FRIENDS!! Life would be unbearable without them!!

Those of you who were residents of the ladies dorm, do you remember? All those late nights your friends listened to you when you were stressed . . . all those late nights (or were they early mornings?) when you sat around sharing and laughing. Dorm life was one very special way to experience academy.

GUYS' DORM LIFE

It seems like there was always something mischievous happening in the Guys' Dorm. We could never tell what we would wake up to in the morning. Sometimes it would be a desk worker, pounding on our door at the ridiculous hour of 5 in the morning, claiming we had put our name on wake-up list, when we knew we hadn't. Other times we would wake up to toilet paper all over the room, a penny-jammed door, a vacuum cleaner coming on with the lights, or sometimes we wouldn't even wake up until we were in the shower room with cold water spraying all over us. (And maybe not even THEN!)

Sometimes during study hall, studying was the last thing we'd do. We'd just walk around chatting, goofing off, and whatever else we could find to do. Over all, we had a great year. Together, we created a year of memories that we'll never forget.

SENIOR RECOGNITION

ONE WAY to bring on a case of Senioritis! Ah, finally, a chance for the Seniors to be glorified to the position they rightly deserve. Senior Recognition Weekend is a forerunner of graduation . . . a time when Seniors really realize they are READY to graduate.

The speaker for this year's Senior Rec. Weekend was Clayton Childs, whom the Seniors had gotten acquainted with during Senior Survival. He spoke twice, once on Friday night, and then for church on Sabbath. Both times he brought out the idea that a Senior's yearbook—the story of his life—is still at the printers, and that by Practicing the Presence of God, this will be the best edition it can possibly be.

Talented trumpet trio, Jeff Wagner, Brian Irvine and Mark Hansen play for Friday night vespers.

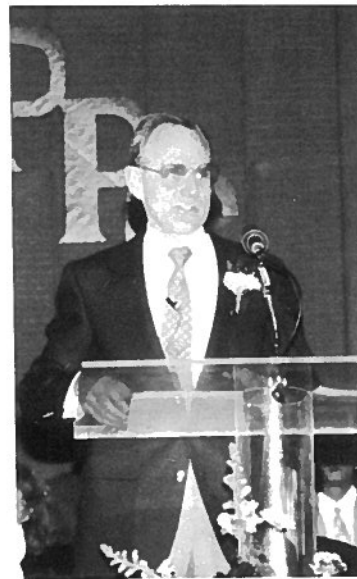

Karrie Gooding and Marni Brittain add their voices to the ranks during song service.

Our speaker, Clayton Childs tells the us our yearbook is at the printers.

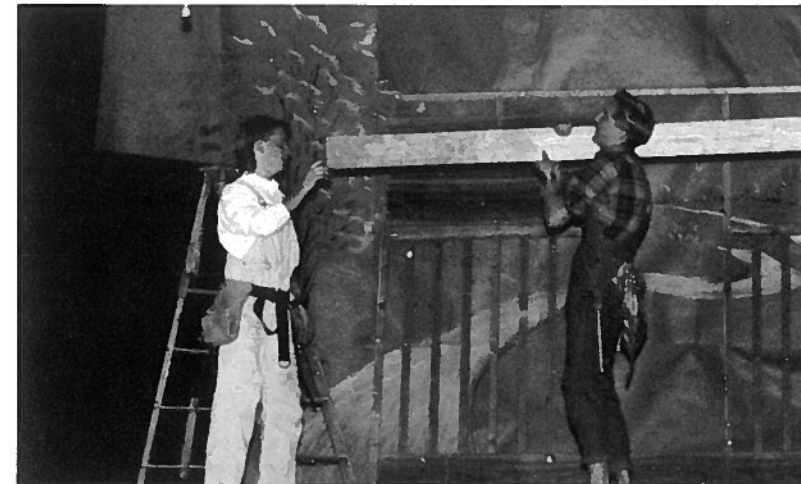

The Long and the Short of it! Mindee Yarlott, Dan Evans, Loren Hanson.

Yvonne Anderson, Michelle Stout, Ron Rasmussen, Kerwin Carambot, Debbie Price, Dan Ellis, Lori Koberstine, Bert Wredberg.

Marisela Salas, Brian Irvine, Carmelle Cone, and Angie Powell contemplate "Seniorhood".

STUDENT COUNCIL

In the skit "Gym Under Construction," Doug Kirk and Jeff Wagner pretend to be low I.Q. construction workers whose favorite pastime is sleeping and favorite word is LUNCH!

In another skit, "How to Be Manly," Dave Tall demonstrates on Loren Hanson the Manly way to give a handshake.

What Feeling, Kristen? Kristen Finlayson sings "Can't Fight This Feeling,"

Bert Wredberg, a Police Inspector, stalks some vandals throughout the entire program as part of a running skit entitled "Graffiti."

SATURDAY NIGHT ACTIVITIES

"Open wide, say Ah, and DIVE!!" Kristen Finlayson vigorously bobs for apples during the Senior class party. See what you miss on open weekends? Rob Holm, Lisa Moller, and Trista Robison had the awesome opportunity of standing in a stranger's bathtub in their stockinged feet! R.C. Freel, Becky Guth, and Gretchen Canaday play Leap Frog in front of Señor Froggy's, during the Photograph Scavenger Hunt. Four more victims of the Photo Scavenger Hunt, Jennifer Jager, Eric Whitchurch, Tina Newman, and Erika Vanderpool. James Eilertsen, Ken Rudy, and James Woods have a "Very Merry Un-Birthday" at Mr. Hardy's party.

For those people fortunate enough to be on campus every Saturday night, A.S.B., the classes, and the faculty attempt to think up original things to keep the restless savages busy.

Movies are always an old standby, but for those more creative souls, movies aren't enough.

For instance, Mr. Hardy's un-birthday party. Everyone divided into months of the year, and played games (for example, a kosher form of spin the bottle), and throughout the party, several people whose numbers were drawn were given birthday presents. Or the Photograph Scavenger Hunt, where groups were given a list of places they needed to have their groups pose: with a bellhop in the Sheraton-Hilton, behind a cashier's counter at Safeway . . . etc. Other weekends were taken up by the conference worker's parties, class parties, Class Competitions, and caroling.

LAURA DAWN GINTER

It seems like only yesterday,
That you were born to us,
So tiny and so beautiful,
And making quite a fuss.

I do not understand though,
How it came to be,
You grew up so very quickly --
Your taller now than me!

When you were very little,
On daddy's shoulders you would ride,
Squealing with delight at him,
and covering his eyes.

Music was your first love,
From very early on.
First piano, and then the flute,
Floated sweet from dusk till dawn.

We are proud, and LOVE YOU dearly,
But God still loves you more.
Keep Him as your companion,
He has great things for you in store.

WE LOVE YOU

STUDENT WEEK OF PRAYER

In preparation for Student Week of Prayer, the speakers, an extremely varied group of personalities and interests, had a spiritual retreat at Mivoden that lasted only a little over twenty-four hours. But it was a LOADED twenty-four hours, because in that short period started a camaraderie, a group of friendships, and a support group that would last much longer than Student week of prayer. Mr. Briggs and Pastor Meidinger led the group through games which sometimes seemed to have no purpose (but actually served to pull the group together), a cappella jam sessions (6 speakers were either in Choir or Choraliers) and then into more serious activities. By the time the speakers loaded onto the van heading home, they felt much more prepared and ready to face week of prayer.

The incredible edible ... HAND?? In a lighter moment during the sessions Rob Holm attempts to devour Janet Schoepflin's hand.

"AH!! It just hit me!!" Steve Mantle rejoices as Doug Hartzell and Becky Guth wait for inspiration to hit them as well.

"But philosophically speaking, Michelle, it is not BAD for a woman to be seen in rollers ... " Michelle Stout and Yobi Kasper share a moment in deep conversation.

Does chewing on a pencil make it easier to concentrate? Bert Wredberg seems to think so, as he searches for suitable texts for his talk, deeply engrossed in his Bible reading.

Where in the World are YOU?

You're in for a wild ride!! Michelle Stout speeds on the road, only to miss her bus. She asks God "Why?"

Janet Schoepflin, Becky Guth, and Edie Wade help lead song service before the meeting.

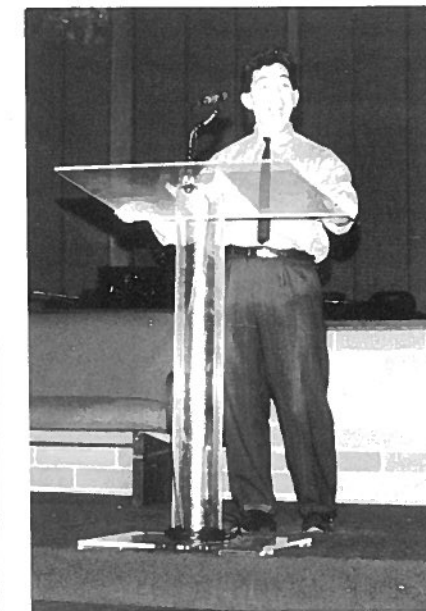

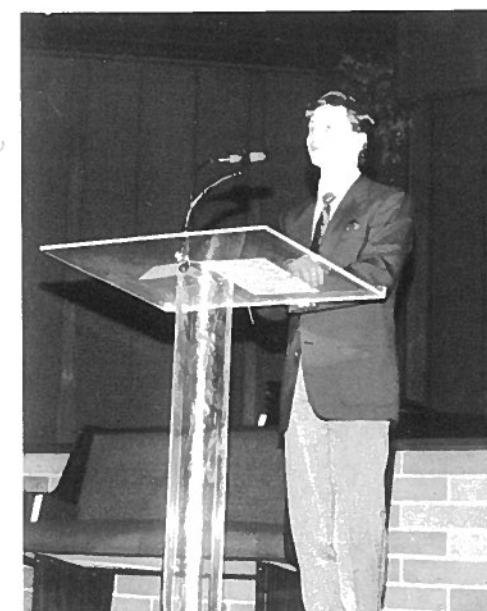

"Oh, the money was under MY seat!!" Yobi Kasper illustrates one of his points by playing a trick on the audience.

Rob Holm, the confident risk taker, tells us how to take risks in our Christian lives.

Cary Gilman and Chris Jones sing "Friends are Friends Forever" as special music for Cary's speech.

Looking like a Kamikaze SPEAKER, Scott Buckmiller easily grabs the students' attention.

ONE WAY TO LEADERSHIP ONE WAY TO GOD

The people who had the great privilege of "learning to lead" this year were the presidents from each class, ASB president and vice president, and the Annual and newspaper editors. When the Leadership Conference people returned to school from Big Lake in Oregon, they were spouting information and wisdom galore. From the games they had played, the meetings they had gone to, and the sharing they had done with other schools, they learned some valuable lessons about leading, and felt more prepared to continue the school year in their position of leadership.

Besides being a chance for a change from school, Bible Conference was both an opportunity to rest, and a time to be reminded of what Jesus has done for us. Ivan Warden, our speaker, stressed the fact that Jesus IS coming soon. Jo Frazier spoke on human relationships and communication. During the freetime between meetings, students took full advantage of the Mivoden facilities.

ECHOES STAFF

The Echoes Staff made a lot of discoveries this year. They discovered a computer does not necessarily make the production of a newspaper any easier. Karrie Gooding, copy editor, commented, "We REALLY had to know how to use these computers!!"

The editor and copy editor had the opportunity to attend a lecture on teenagers and alcohol. They used this experience to educate the rest of the school in at least one article in the newspaper.

They definitely were not immune to deadlines and strict schedules, and often it appeared that they were becoming permanent residents of the computer room.

ANNUAL UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The annual staff found creative ways to turn out a quality annual. We worked down to the last minutes to put on the finishing touches, and ran to and fro, capturing ultimate poses and creative captions. We knew what needed to be achieved and worked hard to reach our goals. From early morning rises to late night sundowns, we made it through with all the lines and squares drawn. With ONE WAY to go, we were headed in a way to do our best. -Heidi Interling.

THE NEW GYMNASIUM

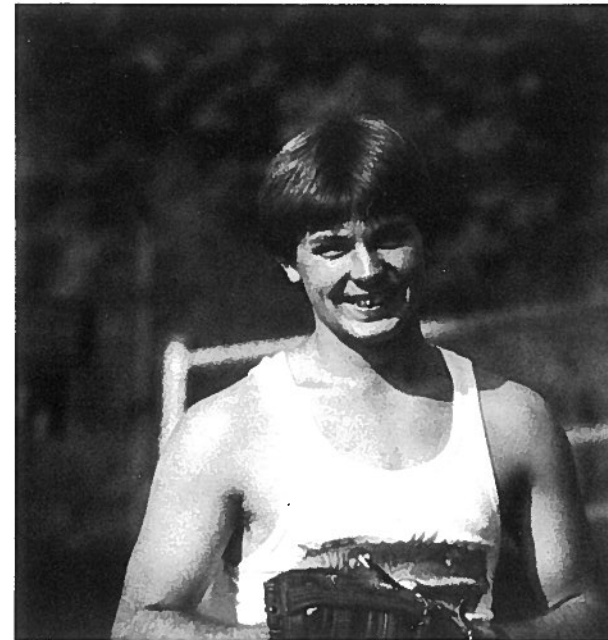

You've heard those fateful words mentioned countless times throughout the annual, but there was not an aspect of student life that wasn't at least remotely affected by the lack of a usable gym.

The schedules in the dorms were changed. Because of the time needed to bus the students into Liberty, and because our Recreation period revolved around Liberty's schedule, we had a shorter, reversed Study Hall.

At banquets, movies were shown in the Girl's Dorm Chapel instead of the gym. Physical education classes were more limited in their possibilities. The Lion's Den and the Dorm Lobbies were used more often as gathering places. For concerts, the talent programs, we had to be bussed into Spokane Junior Academy.

And so we students watched with bated breath as the gym slowly but surely began to take shape. When the first supports went up, the whole campus breathed a sigh of relief. And with every setback or leap forward, we labored for that gym.

When the new, improved, much larger gym is finally finished, each and every student will rejoice!!!

As you go through life always remember—you were an answer to fervent prayer, you were dedicated to the Lord as an infant, and He has great plans for your life. All your talents and abilities are a gift from Him.

When He answered our prayer with you, he gave us a blessing we can never thank Him enough for. We love you so, and we're so very proud of you and the young man you have become.

Love always,

Mom, Dad, John Paul, Tina

Cindy:
Congratulations on your graduation and a job well done.

Wishing you God's blessing and success now and forever.
You're very special to me. I Love You Always—Mom
