Upper Columbia Academy
Spangle, Washington

The responsibilities of running a school effectively weigh heavily upon the shoulders of a principal. There is the responsibility of providing a good Christian example to all, the responsibility of expanding and building up the school grounds, the responsibility of holding up the school standards. You, Elder Schlehuber, have shouldered these responsibilities and many others with efficiency and willingness.

Mrs. Schlehuber, although you have been more of a background figure, your friendliness and good Christian example to students and faculty have inspired respect and admiration in all.

To you, Elder and Mrs. Schléhuber, this 1966 ECHO LOG is dedicated.

Principal

Every individual aspires to be a success. Some see success as a goal to be obtained in later life. Others think of success in terms of material accumulation, of notoriety, of position or of honor. Success for you may not be any one of these aforementioned accomplishments.

Success or failure is what you are today. As you peruse the pages of this 1966 ECHO LOG in the days and years to come, the perspective from a distant point will make it easier to see yourself and others in relationship to true values. The following selection is a good measuring stick of true success.

"He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem, or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has always looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory a benediction."

— — Selected

F. E. Schlehuber

Chairman of the Board

Many years ago a visitor of the great Coleridge argued strongly against the religious instruction of the young. This man felt that when the children came to the years of discretion they would then be free and unfettered to choose their religious opinions for themselves. Coleridge said nothing, but after awhile he took his visitor around and showed him a section of the garden that was unplanted in which only weeds were growing. Coleridge pointed to the area as if with pride, and his visitor was quite taken by surprise. "Well, you see," explained Coleridge, "I did not wish to infringe upon the liberty of the garden in any way. Why prejudice it in favor of flowers or fruit? I'm letting the clods choose for themselves between cockleburs and strawberries."

The scriptures tell us, "Train up a child in the way it should go and when he is old he will not depart from it." This is the objective of Upper Columbia Academy.

A yearbook is a compilation of events and achievements that have transpired during a certain year. The ECHO LOG is only a partial record of these school activities; yet, I hope that in future years the 1966 ECHO LOG will bring back to life memories of this year.

Student Council

A.S.B. Project-

This is the new bus that the Associated Student Body recently purchased. Through various means of fund raising, donations, etc., the students managed to raise a fantastic \$17,000. In addition to this the Upper Columbia Conference paid  $\frac{1}{3}$  the price of the bus amounting to \$8,500. Upper Columbia Academy now has a new \$26,000 bus that will be a great asset to our school for many years to come. Thanks to all who helped out in this gigantic campaign.

The furniture department is the major industry of Upper Columbia Academy. They employ between 35 and 40 students during the school year and approximately 20 all during the summer months to help or completely finance their schooling. They build 3 or 4 types of hide-a-beds, 6 different davenos, also several chairs and an ottoman. This, with the salesmen out on the road, keeps the two trucks busy delivering furniture to the approximately 200 accounts all through the State of Washington, Eastern Montana, Idaho and Oregon.
